Mediavoice presents Speaky Media Center

Mediavoice is a 2000 born company with the mission to develop innovative solutions with the state of the art of speech technology

The Company (located in Rome, Foggia and Messina) has already developed 3 patented solutions

The solution we present here and that is going to be launched on march 2008 starting from italian mass market is:

Speaky Media Center

...a new way to interact to the PC, its services and content

Speaky Media Center

Speaky Media Center is a new home computer, a new system that is able to interact to people in a natural way, simply using voice. A system that listens to the user, receives his/her voice commands, his/her information and service requests, and speaks the results to the user

This patent pending solution that Mediavoice is presenting is an add-on for the new Windows Vista operating system PCs, consisting in the intelligent interface software Speaky and a special remote control that adds the speech features to the typical characteristics of the remote control for Windows Media Center

With Speaky Media Center you can interact with the PC in a natural way through the voice to see television, to use the video recorder, to search a song and to listen to your own music, to see your own videos, your photos and to navigate the Internet; you can manage your house and all its systems, you can call a person pronouncing his/her name and speaking to the remote control like if it were a telephone or you can play, by yourself or in group (for example role games, speech quiz ...)

...all that stuff simply pressing a remote control button and speaking to its microphone!

Speaky Media Center: who is the user and how he/she is facilitated by Speaky

- Speaky's mission is to facilitate the interaction with the digital world for all, in order to allow the user to access the digital content in an easy and fast way
- The user who wants to use a personal computer and its content, will no longer need to learn by heart user guides, complex syntaxes, list of menu options and impossible technical information
- Speaky is also useful for blind and impaired people (The Italian Union of the Blind is a customer and partner)

Speaky Media Center: the new Vista-compliant,
Radio-Frequency remote control for data and voice, with microphone, Push-
To-Talk button and USB receiver

Speaky Media Center: voice-enabled sections
